A Chapter on Temperance. Or. Willard Parker sums up his views on the temperance question in five conclusions First-There is a wide distinction, which ought to be recognized by temperance reform ers between fermented and distilled liquors In fermented Equeralcohol is found in its enforal chemical combination; in distilled iquor it is found pure and simple. In the one case it may be employed in diet and for ourishment; in the other case it is to be regarded only as a medicine, and as a dangerone one, to be used only with caution. Fernented liquors include ale, beer, cider and the various wines. Second—If men would use pure fermented inquors in moderate quantities, as a condiment, and only in connec tion with their meals, the use need not b Therefore, the State ought to license only real incs, and for the sale of fermeuted harmful, and at least to the case of those past the middle life might be beneficial liquors alone. Third-Total abstinence is a good thing for everybody, because the use of m some individuals, especially in those who inherit a tendency to inebriety, it creates or awakens an appetite for drink, and healthy persons do not need them. Fourth-Distilled iquors are deadly. Their use is productive more disease, physical, mental and moral than that of any other known agent, and produces an immeasurable greater number outinely deaths. Fifth-Distilled liquor an indispensable medicine, but its sale should be confined to drug stores, and on the prepeription of a physician.

Beandal in High Life. Citteago, April 7 .- A scandal which has created the greatest excitement in high life in this city for some months past, culminated Mrs. Stella L. Loring, daughter of one of Chicago's best citizens, Dr. Dyer. The bill sets forth that she was married to defendant, Elinu Loring, on June 3, 1867, in this city, where they resided for many years. Since May, 1878, Mr. Loring has resided at Boston. The complainant represents that she al-ways demeaned herself to her husband as a faithful, chaste and affectionate wife, until she became convinced of his infidelity, when she refused to live with him. The fruit of the marriage was six children, all of whom are now living but one. The bill charges are now living but one. The bill charges

St. Louis Times Journal: "The remarkable divorce case of John es. Mary Brunick was decided yesterday by Judge Thayer granting the divorce to the husband. John and Mary were married on the seventh of December, 1878, and after the congratulations had been poured out upon the young comple, and all the guests had retired, it occarred to John that it would be well to repair to the bridal couch. Young husbands can readily magine the astonishment of John when his blushing bride, in her most bewitching night robe, drew herself up groundly by the bedside, and, putting one lelicate little foot forward upon the mossross carpet, remarked: 'We are married but we have gone far enough. Good night! John was rewarded with a kiss, and then a soft hand waved in the direction of the door I sading to another bedchamber. John was not a graduate of the school of platonic love, and the situation was entirely new to him, but words of entreaties and even tears were of no avail. The bride of a few hours bade him retire, and in a twinkling the snowy sweet repose and virgin innocence the fair ency now in the trasury, kept as a special form of the pure Mary. Such a condition of fund for the redemption of the fractional curaffairs did not lead to much harmony, and John might have expressed somewhat warmly his practical ideas concerning platonic affec-tion. In any case, the young bride sobbed herself into a pretty pet, and toddled off home to her manma. The husband brought his grievance to the ears of the court and ob-ained relief; that is to say, a decree of di-yorce was granted to him."

ase was resumed. Senator Saulsbury spoke against Senator Senator Carpenter argued that to authorize the governor to make the appointment, there must have been a recess of the body which notice in some of the papers, principally in even fermented liquors is dangerous, in that at that time possessed the legislative power of the State, because the governor, in making the appointment, acted only for the legislature, which, if in session, could make an

can, April 7th: Secretary Sherman reached this city this evening, and went immediately to the Fifth Avenue hotel. He is accompanied by J. K. Upton, chief clerk of the treas-ury department. It is expected he will re-main in the city for several days. His visit WASHINGTON, April 10 .- Chief Moses and has nothing to do with the funding of fiveretire from the market for a time the sale of four per cent bonds, people can get all they want now from funding certificates at par. In a short time, as soon as the market settles, I shall offer four per cent bonds for sale to refund 10 40 bonds, but at advanced rates, so as not to allow such heavy commissions. I hope to save the double interest. I do not see at present now I can do so unless congress shortens the call. The funding act, passed in 1871, provided that ninety days notice should be given before 5 20 bonds could be called, involving unnecessary delay. While that law stands I cannot do anything else. I called the attention of congress to this in my an and report in December, and I strongly recommended that the time for calls should be reduced to thirty days. The house, after considerable delay, passed such a bill, and the senate did not take it up. The shortening of calls simply enables us to apply the money we receive sooner." The secretary stated that there was a matter to which he the west, that I was going to accept all bids for four per cent bonds received on April 4th. Some bids were received from banks in Boston, Cincinnati, St. Louis and other places, in the ordinary course of business, and certificates were forwarded before three o'clock on Friday evening. These were cepted, and they did not exceed in all $1, 000,000 instead of $40,000,000, as published in some papers. The Continental and Hanover national banks of New York sent very arge subscriptions, but there is no claim on heir part that they were forwarded until after three o'clock in the afternoon. The entire amount of subscriptions received after noon when I went to the cabinet meeting subscriptions amounted to $6,502,750. A two o'clock in the afternoon I received a sub om the Bank of Commerce $40,000,000. It was so large and unusua that I requested the dispatch to be repeated and certified before accepting it. Snortly afterward I received subscriptions from bank in New York for $12,000,000, and these, with ten million dollars by a London syndicate made $59,502,570. I closed the 5 20 fund ing and I sent word to all sub-treasuries in the country. No subscriptions after tha time were received. Those that came were sceived at my house after five o'clock in th afternoon, and they were all declined. aim as an attache in the diplomatic service, provided he passed the necessary examination. Other letters show him to be on very intimate terms with parties at the foreign office. In 1873 he was married at St. George's, Hanover Square, but has since then been separated from his wife, and admitting this fact, but without giving his real name, he allowed her two thousand pounds sterling a year. In 1877 he was at Vienna and St Petersburg, and represented himself as a member of the diplomatic service, although it now appears that he never passed the necessary examinations. On the issue of the warrant for his arrest he fled to America, where, as Montague F. Anderson, he was admitted to the privileges of the Duquesne club, at Pittsburg, and of our own Knicker-bocker club. In November last he left America as we know, and on his arrival in England came to Exeter, where he assumed the name of Montague Arbuthnott. On leaving Exeter he visited Cornwall, where he assumed the title of "honorable," and passed as Hon. Mr. Arouthnott up to the time of his arrest. He was expensively dressed, and had some valuable i welry, but pawned his gold chronometer watch at Plymouth. Three check-books were found among effects, two on Messrs. Martin's bank, Lombard street, and one on the bank of Maitland.

Atlanta Constitution: "Special-Agent W. B. Redmond, of the United States postal-service, telegraphed Captain John Frey, chief special agent of the Atlanta division, that yesterday he arrested A. B. Harrison, late postmaster at Bennett's station, Alabama, for detaining and destroying letters, and that the offender was carried before the United States commissioner at Demopolis, Alabama, and in default of five hundred dollars was committed to jail to await trial upon the charges preferred against him. Special-Agent Redmond worked up the case very handsomely and skillfully, and succeeded in gathering together a vast amount of very important evidence that will be used when the final trial takes place. He is one of the most efficient officers of the department, and very rarely, if ever, fails in any of his efforts to ferret out crime when committed by an em-playe of the government." Religious Colony in Arkansas. Mr. Joseph Stetzer, a Catholic, of Pitts-burg, and Rev. A. Burkle, paster of the Lutheran church, of Woodville, Sandusky county, Ohio, are making arrangements to plant, the former a Catholic, the latter a Lu the ran, colony in Arkansas. The Catholics something could not be done to prevent the are settling down in the Arkansas valley. The Lutherans have bought about twelve thousand acres in another part of the State, Some of the Lutheran families are already on the ground. They will be in the center of a new prairie county, whose name is to be Prairie county, and are to lay the foundation of the county seat in the midst of their colony and community. The Memphis and Little Rock railroad is to extend a road right through their lands to Texas. After Easter, Pastor Burkle will run an excursion train to this place. Many have signified their readiness to go and "view the landscape o'er."-Philadelphia Record.

The advent of the ultramontane reactionary cabine seems probable. A great meeting of repre entatives of the German seaports will be eld on the seventeenth instant, to freely discuss the new tariff. All seaport cities strongly oppose the projected suctaxes and retaliatory duties on trans-marine imports. Gambetta's Views Concerning Egypt. Paris, April 10.—The policy of France i not to precipitate matters. The present ten-dency is rather to the other extreme. It is notorious that Gambetta's views in regard to bypt are more decided than those of Miniser Waddington, but he does not wish to exercise his pressure on the government, though Egyptian bondholders seriously contemplate urging him to supplant Waddingon at the head of the ministry.

bear repeating. Not long since a government functionary died in utter destitution, leaving without friends or relations two small children, one of whom was a boy about seven years old. Alone, moneyless, foodless, with his little sister crying for bread, he wrote on a niege of paper as a last report, the netition. a piece of paper, as a last resort, the petition 'Please God, send me three copecks to buy my sister a roll.' This he carried to the nearest church, to drop it into an alms-box, and start it on its way to beaven. A passing priest, seeing him trying to put the paper into the box, took it and read it, whereupon he carried the children to his house, and fed and ciothed them. The next Sunday he preached a sermon on charity, in which he alluded to the incident. The collection that ollowed amounted to nearly one thousand

Another Cut in Passenger Rates to Eastern Cities, ST. Louis, April 10.-Under the cut of passenger rates from here to the seaboard which has been in operation for some time past, the rates dropped down to-day to twelve dollars to New York, and the pros-pect is that they will go lower. Quite a number attended the meeting of merchants railroad freights from east to west, and'sce if something could not be done to prevent the discrimination against St. Louis which now prevails.
